Prepare for an unparalleled adventure into one of the most iconic wildlife destinations on the planet, where the battle for survival plays out in front of you each and every day. Mara Plains Camp is located on a bend of the Ntiakitiak River in the 35,000-acre private Olare Motorogi Conservancy adjoining Kenya's Maasai Mara National Reserve.

Walk across the suspended bridge on arrival, follow a trail through a thick, riverine forest to some giant steps, to be greeted by an endless horizon with one, single, flat-topped acacia – the quintessential shape of East Africa – right in your line of sight on the wildlife filled plains beyond.

Mara Plains Camp offers a second-to-none experience in game-viewing, romance, adventure, discovery, exploration and outstanding accommodation.

When sitting in the middle of one of the richest wild ecosystems in the world its exceptionally important not to try and upstage what nature has provided, so the design of Mara Plains is one of understatement and quiet class. The decor pays homage to the essence of East Africa, Maasai and ancient Swahili heritage which is reflected in large wooden doors from the coastal island of Lamu. Accents of deep red and purple honour the great Maasai chiefs and warriors who call this area home.

Add to this cultural amalgam a nod to the colonial era, with rich leathers, copper and brass used in expedition-style campaign furniture and you have a lavish, residential atmosphere which complements, rather than overwhelms the surrounding wilderness.

One of only five camps in the private Olare Motorogi conservancy and with traversing rights into Mara North, guests have unrivalled access to more than 100,000 acres of exclusive, low vehicle-density, high-game density land as well as unfettered access to the Maasai Mara's additional 375,000 acres.
